

VENTURA BENNELONG AUSTRALIAN EQUITIES CORE MODEL

December 2018

COMMENTARY

Like their global counterparts, Australian shares struggled over the period. The local market traded lower amid an early spike in bond yields, weakness across the major miners and the 'Big Four' banks, and lingering US-China trade uncertainty. Stocks were also hindered by a series of mixed shareholder updates, further evidence China's economy is slowing and some disappointing third-quarter growth data. Sentiment was further impacted by yet another tepid inflation reading, rising US interest rates and a poor lead from major overseas markets. Limiting the decline was a drop in the unemployment rate to just 5.0% and the Reserve Bank of Australia (RBA)'s decision to maintain its improved growth forecasts despite the latest gross domestic product (GDP) figures. The market also benefited from further merger and acquisition activity, and some late bargain hunting.

The RBA left the official cash rate on hold at a record low 1.50% throughout the period, with December's meeting marking the 28th consecutive month without a move in either direction. In its latest post-meeting statement, the bank said it still expects domestic growth to average around 3.5% this year and next, before slowing in 2020. Officials also noted that the labour market remains positive and that inflation, which is at the lower end of the RBA's 2-3% target range, is expected to pick up over the next couple of years, with the pick-up likely to be gradual. Meanwhile, the outlook for household consumption remains a concern, with growth in household income low and debt levels high. The RBA concluded its latest meeting by saying that "taking account of the available information, the Board judged that holding the stance of monetary policy unchanged... would be consistent with sustainable growth in the economy and achieving the inflation target over time."

About Bennelong Australian Equity Partners

Bennelong Australian Equity Partners (BAEP) is a boutique fund manager that invests in Australian listed equities. The business was founded in 2008 by Mark East in partnership with Bennelong Funds Management. It is now established as an award winning and highly rated fund manager. BAEP manages funds on behalf of retail and institutional clients, as well as on a pro bono basis for charitable organisations.

Investment philosophy

BAEP believes that high quality companies with solid growth prospects are best positioned to grow value over time. The team also believes that stocks are generally priced to reflect the market's expectations of future earnings, and that it is companies' earnings performance relative to expectations that drives investment returns. BAEP seeks to invest selectively in those companies whose earnings growth potential is underestimated by the market. An actively managed portfolio comprising a hand-picked selection of stocks with prospects that are potentially more favourable than perceived should deliver attractive returns over time.

Investment style

Managing funds actively and according to a fundamental 'core' style. BAEP does not confine itself to selecting stocks according to any one investment approach. Instead, the team focuses on companies that exhibit an attractive combination of quality, growth and value attributes, with an underlying bias towards quality.

Investment process

BAEP's investment process is based on fundamental bottom-up stock picking. At its core, BAEP's process has a focus on extensive on-the-ground and other proprietary research and analysis that includes a comprehensive program of meetings and engagement with listed companies, their competitors, suppliers, customers, regulators, and other relevant industry contacts. Individual stock analysis and portfolio construction is supported by macroeconomic and quantitative research and insights.
